

Allies Seek Talks With Stalin

Washington, July 31 — (UP) — The state department said today that representatives of the United States, Britain and France have called at the Soviet foreign office in Moscow regarding the Berlin blockade.

Department press officer Michael J. McDermott said the conferences were a "preliminary step" on the next western strategy to seek lifting of the Soviet siege in Berlin.

The calls were made shortly after the Soviet foreign office had informed the American embassy that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was "on vacation" and not available for conferences with the western representatives.

Molotov's absence may mean that the western representatives are seeking to discuss the Berlin blockade directly with Soviet Premier Josef Stalin.

Because of the serious implications of the blockade, informants doubted that the American, British and French representatives would be willing to discuss the problem with any Soviet officials other than Stalin or Molotov.

It was believed in official quarters here that the next move would be to determine whether a conference could be arranged with Stalin. Informants said that if he should be on "vacation" too or reject a meeting with the western representatives, then the responsibility for dangerous complications of the Berlin blockade would rest solely upon the Russians.

Meanwhile, there were reliable reports that some ranking Republicans have become increasingly alarmed at the way the administration is handling the Berlin crisis. Indications were that some GOP leaders believe the defense department—not the state department—is exercising major influence on American policy during the recent tense weeks.

Resorter Dies On Train

William Chase Spurgeon, 56, Muncie, Ind., resident who had spent summer seasons for the past 30 years in Conway, died early this morning aboard the Pennsylvania railroad train which arrived here at 7:30 a.m. today.

Born in Muncie in September, 1891, Mr. Spurgeon was an official in the Muncie Gear Works and had owned a cottage in Conway for the past 25 years. Coronor J. B. Conti attributed his death to a heart attack.

The body will be taken to Muncie on Sunday evening for funeral services and burial there.

Surviving are the widow, Dora A.; one son, William Chase Spurgeon, Jr.; two daughters, Miss Dorothy Spurgeon and Mrs. Albert Greely; and one grandson, Robert Spurgeon Greely, all of Muncie.

Shun 'Death' Pit

Birmingham, Ala., July 31 — (UP) — Four coal mines owned by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co. were shut down today when miners refused to enter the pits after an explosion in one of the mines yesterday killed six men and injured 13 others.

Company spokesmen said the Edgewater mine had been approved by the state and federal safety inspectors within the past month. The cause of the blast was not immediately known.

Dog Exhibit Is Scheduled For August Sports Show

Dogs will have their day during Petoskey Sports Show August 11-14.

Dr. John Pray, veterinarian, is arranging a dog show that will feature the short, the tall, and the funny among dogs rather than blood lines.

Prizes will be awarded on that basis. And only amiable pets will be admitted to competition, Dr. Pray said.

While complete details of the pet contest have not been worked out, Dr. Pray already has ruled that all dogs entered must be on a leash and small children with entries must be accompanied by their parents.

Elsewhere in the Sports Show planning, Fred B. Tripp, vice president of the chamber is making progress on an industrial exhibit designed to reveal the scope of industrial activity in the Petoskey area. Four firms which have promised to enter displays are the Petoskey Portland Cement Co., the Michigan Tanning and Extract Co., the Michigan Maple Block Co., and the Curtis Wire Products Co. All industrial firms are invited to participate.

The entire industrial display is to be shown first on August 10 at a one-day agricultural show in Gaylord.

Emil Nasson, chairman of the hardware display committee, announced today that there will be a Punch and Judy show put on by Theodore Glass of Carp Lake. This program is slated for the night of August 12 at Federation Park in connection with the Farmers' Day program.

Housewives at Dallas, Tex., declared open war on high prices today, organizing a one-week buyers strike against the city's butcher shops.

But elsewhere in the nation, food prices were still climbing. Most of the dairies at Indianapolis raised their prices on milk and coffee cream one cent today.

The Dallas buyer's strike on meat was organized by Mrs. R. D. Vaughan, president of Dallas women's Chamber of Commerce who advised housewives two days ago to stop buying meat.

"My telephone has been ringing off the wall ever since," she said. "I never dreamed that people were so upset about meat prices."

The "strike" will start Monday with 100 to 200 women systematically going through the phone book and asking housewives to stop buying meat for one week.

At Chicago, meanwhile, a Bowman Dairy Company official charged that the government made a "political football" out of the Chicago dairy industry by indicting firms and officers yesterday for price-fixing, rebates and monopolistic practices.

GOP Plans To Stop Filibuster

Washington, July 31 — (UP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., promised today that an attempt would be made next week to crack the Southern Democratic filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill.

The success of the proposed move depended on a reversal of previous Senate rulings. Southerners were confident that there would be no reversal and that they would win their fight to kill the bill.

Taft wanted to dispose of the measure by mid-week to clear the way for floor action on whatever anti-inflation bill is approved by the Senate Banking Committee. He also made it clear that the anti-poll tax bill will be shelved if the filibuster cannot be broken by the time the anti-inflation bill is ready.

Taft said yesterday that he hoped the extra session of Congress would be able to adjourn on Aug. 7 — just one week from today.

Republican congressional leaders have rejected President Truman's demands for price, wage and rationing control powers. They have promised only legislation to provide credit curbs, which would curtail the volume of bank loans and perhaps installment buying.

In discussing his anti-filibuster strategy, Taft told reporters that a cloture petition to limit Senate debate would be filed sometime next week. Under previous rulings of Senate presiding officers, a cloture or "gag rule" can apply only to a "measure" and not to a motion merely to take up the measure in question.

The motion now before the Senate is to take up the anti-poll tax bill. The Senate has not yet started debate on the bill itself.

The pending bill, endorsed by President Truman, has already passed by the House. It calls for outlawing by statute the collection of poll taxes in federal elections. Seven southern states still levy these taxes.

Local Youth Aids Berlin Air-Life

A Petoskey youth, Pfc. Walter L. Stinson, is taking an important part in the army's "Operations Vittles", the supply of food to the western section of Berlin.

Stinson is manager of an air forces gas station which fuels the giant six-ton trucks transporting vital food supplies for the Wiesbaden air-lift to Berlin.

Stinson is a former Petoskey high school student and is the son of Mrs. Sylvia Stinson of 313 Water street.

"A WELL-BUILT Irish girl" for a wife is request of Bert Stone, San Fernando, Cal., power house foreman, in letter to the mayor of Dublin, Ireland. Stone says, "I don't want an American girl. . . Spy Names High Government Officials As Red 'Informers'

Spy Tells How She Fell Into Hands Of US Reds

Washington July 31 — (UP) — What makes a privileged, well educated American girl become a Communist agent? —Elizabeth Terrell Bentley says that her firsthand experience with Italian Fascism made her "an easy prey" for Communists.

Then, she continues, she fell in love with an American citizen of Russian birth. Under his direction she gathered valuable wartime secrets which were piped "straight through" to the Soviet.

The Communist party's trust in her increased. In 1941, before she realized it, she was betraying her country.

For three years the tall, blue-eyed girl with the darkening blonde hair served Russia. The man she loved—the key Communist agent—died, but she went on gathering information on codes, on air strength, on scientific formulas for the Soviet.

She outlined her evolution from a school-girl "pink" to a hardened foreign agent in testimony yesterday before a Senate investigating subcommittee.

She said it was not until the summer of 1944 that she began feeling disgusted and ashamed of her spy work. She feared for her own safety. And, she said, she wanted to go back to church—the church she hadn't attended in 15 years.

And then she began to see U. S. Red leaders as nothing more than "little, cheap men." But, because she was obsessed with the idea that all Washington government offices were infested with Communists, she chose an out-of-the-way place to tell her story.

She went to the New Haven office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. That was in late August, 1945. Yesterday she repeated her confession before Senate investigators.

Miss Lipton is going to remain in Bay View until Monday and will then return to Cincinnati for one more appearance in "Carmen." Following that she will go to her home in Nantucket for the rest of the summer.

In the fall Miss Lipton will make a tour through part of Mexico and several of the southern states before the opera season.

Krupp Heads Found Guilty

Nuernberg, July 31 — (UP) — Alfred Krupp, head of the Giant Krupp munitions combine, and five other Krupp executives were found guilty today of plundering French and Dutch factories in the wake of conquering Nazi armies.

Four of the 12 Krupp executives on trial were acquitted. Two were not charged with plundering. All 12 face another judgment later today on charges of using slave labor in Krupp plants.

Sentences are expected to be pronounced after the second judgment is read.

Krupp, 41, had been sole owner of the $175,000,000,000 munitions combine since 1931.

Dedicate Airport

New York, July 31 — (UP) — America put its postwar air power on parade today. Britain joined the United States in the mightiest peacetime review of air strength ever seen in this country. The occasion was the dedication by President Truman of New York's $200,000,000 Idlewild international airport.

Reveals Spy Ring

A FAR-FLUNG Communist espionage ring in the U. S. with connections in high government circles is revealed by testimony of Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, 36-year-old secretary, according to the House UN-American Activities committee. The special Grand jury which indicted 12 Communist leaders in New York heard her testimony. She headed a spy ring of 50 persons during the war, she said, but suffered pangs of conscience later and went to the FBI office with her story. (International)

Federal Grand Jury Probe Asked

Washington, July 31 — (UP) — Elizabeth T. Bentley, confessed Communist spy, today named former assistant secretary of the treasury Harry D. White as a member of an espionage group that fed secret information to her during the war.

She also named Lauchlin Currie, former administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, as another who provided information which she transmitted to the Russians.

Miss Bentley brought White's name into a hearing before the House un-American Activities Committee. She said he was part of a group of government employees headed by Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, who was "probably an agent of NKVD," the Russian secret police.

The Silvermaster group, she said, collected information for her. She made trips from New York to Washington every two weeks or so to pick up what they had to offer.

Miss Bentley explained that she collected information from two separate groups of government employees. The other group, she said, was headed by Victor Perlo. The committee said he had been employed in war production board during the war.

As Miss Bentley made her allegations, the House un-American Activities Committee asked for a "blue ribbon" federal grand jury investigation here into Communist activities in the government.

Miss Bentley's disclosures would serve as the basis for the proposed inquiry.

Miss Bentley was called to tell how she lured wartime secrets on vital military information from William Remington, a suspended Commerce Department official, and about 50 other government officials.

And over on the other side of the Capitol, Remington promised to refute "to the last comma" Miss Bentley's charge that he was a dues-paying Communist and her "most valuable" government contact in a Soviet spy ring that stretched from Moscow to the White House.

He was called to testify before the Senate's super investigating committee — the group that first brought Miss Bentley's fantastic spy story to the public.

Remington, a 30-year-old former naval intelligence officer, worked during the war in many vital agencies, where he had access to valuable information on aircraft and synthetic production.

He said he gave her no information whatsoever that wasn't generally available to newspapermen. He said he thought she was just a "green" reporter from New York and he wanted to help her along.

Senate investigators were determined to find out how Remington—a man whose loyalty was known to be under investigation by the FBI—could be appointed chairman of the Commerce Department committee which handles export licenses for Russia and her satellites.

Remington held that post until last month, when he was placed on "indefinite leave" by Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer, pending the outcome of the loyalty check by the FBI and the civil service commission.

The Vassar-educated Miss Bentley's testimony before the House subcommittee was slated to be kept secret. But members See SPY, Page 4

The evening program will open with the Queen's parade through the business section to East Park where Queen Jeanne and her court will be presented to the crowd and attend the program to follow. Camp Charlevoix's Boys chorus will open the program with a group of sea chanteys, the SPEBSQSA chorus will sing several numbers, Zack Whyte will play several piano numbers, a group of spirituals by amixed choir will be followed by a concert by the Charlevoix Marine Band.

Fireworks will be bursting over the scene and the gaily decorated craft pass in review before the judges' stand off East Park.

Following the parade a street dance will be staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce on Park Avenue between Bridge and State streets.

During the afternoon a ball game will be held at the South side Athletic field at 4:30 with the Petoskey Cement team meeting the Charlevoix Knight Owls in a softball game.

Road Toll Soars

Lansing — (UP) — State police today reported the June highway death toll in Michigan was 119, the highest of any month this year. The increase was laid mainly to accidents on rural county roads. Urban fatalities were down about one half in June.

Ferry System At Straits 25 Years Old And Still Growing

This year marks the twenty-fifth year that the state of Michigan has owned its own ferry system. Previous to 1923 automobiles had to be transported across the Straits of Mackinac by railroad ferries. This method was both costly and inadequate to serve the needs of the traveling public.

In the fall of 1923, the state purchased two boats from the U. S. government. These boats, the "Colonel Card" and the "Colonel Pond", had been used during the world war for eastern seaboard duty but were too small for ferry service. They were each lengthened to give them a carrying capacity of 40 automobiles and were rechristened the "Saint Ignace" and the "Mackinac City."

Two years later it was necessary to enlarge the boats to carry 60 cars because of increased traffic. The next year, 1926, resulted in a lowered rate for transportation across the Straits. The new rate was also changed to have the charges based on overall length instead of on wheel base as previously.

Delays caused by increased traffic resulted in the purchase of a third boat, the "Straits of Mackinac", which was put into service during the summer tourist season in 1928. Speedier service was also brought about three years later when the docks at Mackinac City and St. Ignace were rebuilt to permit loading of three boats at once.

During the winter of 1936-37, the highway department, under which the ferries operate, leased the ice breaker, "Saint Marie", and initiated winter service. Two Great Lakes car ferries, the "City of Cheboygan" and the "City of Munising" were also bought in 1937. They had a total carrying capacity of 203 cars which enabled the department to make great improvements in traffic service and virtually eliminate delays except during the peak periods.

In 1940, the federal government bought the "City of St. Ignace" and the "City of Mackinac" for use by the War Department. To replace them a steamer was bought from the Pere Marquette railroad and rechristened the "City of Petoskey" after it had been reconstructed and reconditioned.

The "City of Petoskey" is capable of carrying 105-110 cars. It is 330 feet long and has a 56 foot beam.

Since its beginnings in 1923, the state-owned ferry service has come a long way and carried thousands of cars. Its growth can be shown merely by comparing two figures. In 1923 the ferries carried 10,351 cars. In 1947 there were 501,109 cars transported.

Plans are now under way to further increase the ferry service by the addition of a new ferry to be built for the Straits traffic. It will be the most powerful vessel on the Great Lakes next to the cutted "Mackinac". It will cost between four and five million dollars to build and will take two years in construction. Vehicles will be parked in six lanes and loading will be done from either end.

Joins Center Stage '48

of Center Stage '48, Northern Michigan's new summer theater located in East Jordan, is Lou Prentis, who has just completed an appearance at Ann Lee's Equity Theater, "El Teatro De Santa Fe", in New Mexico. Miss Prentis played the ingenue role in "Goodbye Again" which starred Ralph Edwards of radio's "Truth and Consequences" fame.
"Like Center Stage '48", said Miss Prentis, "Ann Lee's theater is affiliated with the American National Theater and Academy, and is dedicated to the task of presenting good theater away from Broadway and the Eastern states. Ann Lee, well known Broadway and movie actress, has founded the project in a former army theater on the campus of St. Michael's College in Santa Fe. Through the assistance of local business men and the Brothers of the college, the theater was enlarged to accommodate the new summer group."
Asked how she was enjoying Northern Michigan as compared to Santa Fe, Miss Prentis said, "This is beautiful resort area! Santa Fe's high altitude presented quite a problem to the cast and visiting actors and actresses from Hollywood. Elevation there is 8,000 feet, and some have difficulty in acclimating themselves in less than three weeks."
"The group was fortunate in being housed at the estate of former Senator Cutting—there was nothing lacking in the way of lavish, comfortable surroundings for the cast. Nevertheless, the very fact that Center Stage is accomplishing what they set out to do, in spite of housing problems and other handicaps, makes me feel mighty proud to be included in the group. Already they have received nationwide recognition for their work here in Northern Michigan, and through the New Mexico papers I learned of the favorable acceptance up here," Miss Prentis added.
Miss Prentis has played in summer stock at Great Neck and Provincetown in the East as well as in Broadway productions. She also appeared in several movies filmed in New York, among them "Portrait of Jennie", "Carnegie Hall" and "Gentlemen's Agreement".

advise

Suits to express but never overshadow your personality. A striking three-piece model of spungy, Glasgow woolen combines a simple gored skirt in smoke gray with a fitted, gray jacket and tops it with a very full, flaring, three-quarter length coat in an eye-filling stripe of dubonnet, rose, pale gray and yellow. The stripes run around and round the wide sleeves and diagonally across the free-swinging back. The stripe is repeated in the collar and cuffs of the jacket and two discreet little splits in the front of the skirt lend ease of movement as well as eye appeal.

charmeen gabardines

Charmeen gabardine fashions a classic, understated suit in brighter-than-navy or powder blue. Covered buttons fasten to the throat or open down to form revers and a deep front pleat allows freedom in the slim stem of the skirt. It can be dressed up or down to fit almost any occasion and will be a thing of beauty and a joy . . . if not forever . . . at least for many seasons.

Married Men Will Not Be Drafted

Washington, July 30 —(UP)—Selective service officials said today it may be "some time yet" before a system of deferments can be worked out for the nation's new peacetime draft registrants.

The law specifically exempts certain men from the draft, but selective service must decide the basis for deferments of other registrants such as married men and those with dependents.

Youths 18-through-25 must register for the draft but only those 19-through-25 may be inducted for 21 months service. The overwhelming majority of draftees will come from the ranks of men 19-through-21.

Men who are now married are not expected to be drafted. But selective service must decide what to do about draft-age youths who marry or become fathers in the future. During World War II, dependency deferments were not given out unless the marriage or birth took place before a certain date.

Officials said they did not know whether the same pattern will be followed under the new peacetime draft because the deferment system this time will be more liberal.

There also is sure to be strong pressure from certain rural labor shortage areas for very lenient policy for farm youths. During the war, this was a cause of almost constant friction between Congress and selective service.

It has been announced that there will be deferments for some key industrial and government workers. The new regulations will have to define such jobs.

The draft law grants automatic deferments to clergymen, theological students, 19-year-old high school students, and most veterans.

Ask Rate Boost

Lansing —(UP)— Consumers Power Company today asked the Public Service Commission for another $2,271,000 rate boost. The new boost, affecting domestic as well as industrial customers would add 23 cents a month on the average home customer's gas bill.

Hormone Spray Aids Tomatoes

East Lansing —(UP)— Michigan State College agriculture officials today told how 9,000 street car windows and a shot of hormone gave a Michigan tomato grower the beat on his competitors.

Clinton Carter, White Pigeon farmer, heard a talk last winter by S. H. Wittwer, college horticulturist, who suggested spraying the first cluster of tomato blossoms with parathloropexy-acetic acid, to insure early yields.

After learning to pronounce the name of the plant hormone, Carter followed up Wittwer's tip and went one better. He had his son Russell buy the 9,000 street car windows in Chicago and together they made a makeshift greenhouse. Their tomato planting began in February several months ahead of the normal season.

By late June Carter's tomatoes were already on grocery stands in Southwestern Michigan while other growers scarcely had blossoms on their plants.

Wittwer expects more tomato farmers will now try learning to pronounce parathloro—well, you know.

VOLUNTEER for a CAREER in the AIR FORCE

To BUILD the mighty Air Power that the American people want, your Air Force calls for volunteers.

The Air Force is a volunteer service today, and it will continue to be so. Its standards are high: Only the best type of American youth—mentally, morally and physically—can service and fly the planes now blazing new trails to peace and security.

If you are such a man, your Air Force offers you an exceptional career—with high pay, interesting work, chances for advancement and security that are seldom equaled.

Men who volunteer for 3, 4, 5 or 6 years will receive the world's finest aviation training. They will have the opportunity to become specialists in communications, jet propulsion, mechanics and dozens of other thrilling and valuable jobs. An Airman who qualifies for a technical grade can earn the equivalent of $4000 to $5000 a year in net civilian pay.

Under the new Selective Service Act, 15,000 18-year-olds within limited monthly quotas may volunteer for service in the Air Force for one year.

While it may be necessary to restrict general Air Force enlistments in coming months, there will be no restrictions on the re-enlistment of former airmen who apply within 90 days of the expiration of their current enlistment period.

Selective Service defers high school students until graduation, college students until the end of the school year. So finish your education and plan to come into the Air Force as a volunteer.

Some of the choices open to volunteers:

CHOICE OF THE AIR FORCE is open to any young man, 18 to 34 (17 with parents' consent), who can measure up to Air Force standards and who volunteers for 3 years or more of service.

THE AIR FORCE AVIATION CAREER PLAN enables young men with high school education, or the equivalent, who enlist for 3 years to choose and qualify for the U. S. Air Force Specialist School that interests them most before enlisting.

THE AVIATION CADET PROGRAM allows any young man from 20 to 26½ years old who is single and has completed two years of college or the equivalent to sign up for the finest pilot training in the world, with a commission as 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve upon successful completion of the course. Men who have been accepted for Aviation Cadet training may be deferred from induction under Selective Service for four months to assure their entry into pilot training.

OFFICER CANDIDATE SCHOOL is open to men with 2 years of college or the equivalent, 20½ to 26½, who demonstrate qualities of leadership. Those who successfully complete the training receive commissions as 2nd Lieutenants, Air Force Reserve.

VETERANS OF THE ARMED FORCES have special choices open to them in the Air Force, depending on their experience and the Military Occupational Specialties they held.

Full information about these opportunities for volunteers can be secured at any Air Force Base or Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.

said they intended to press her for more information on the government officials who gave her "papers and documents" for ultimate delivery to the Kremlin.
For two hours yesterday, the soft spoken woman told the Senate committee that for three years during the war, she used Remington and other government contacts to filter American war secrets to Russia through a Communist network that included only a handful of outright Soviet agents from overseas.
She said that Remington was one of these contacts and that she met him from 10 to 30 times. But she had other contacts too, she added, including an unnamed former White House staff member who tipped her off in 1944 that the United States had broken an important Russian code.
She said she had contacts in almost all strategic government agencies—the army, the state department, the war agencies, the treasury department and even the ultra-secret office of strategic services.

The other indictments, charging violation of the Robinson-Patman Act, through the giving of rebates, named respectively a dairy company and two individuals and another dairy company and six individuals.
For seven years, the indictment charges, the companies unlawfully allocated wholesale outlets of fluid milk for their own mutual satisfaction in the Chicago area, thus enabling them to keep milk prices up.

Madison, Wis. — (UP)—The Wisconsin conservation department is looking for a fish psychiatrist. This vacation state needs someone who can figure out why its fish are so temperamental about the bait they bite on.

Thorpe Had To Return His Medals

By Bruce Munn
United Press Sports Writer
London — (UP)—The Olympic Games, often hailed as a means of promoting peace through better understanding, have been marred by many disputes, several involving Americans. The history of the games has been peaceful for the most part but incredibly violent on other occasions. Charges of professionalism touched off the worst disputes. Only last winter professionalism entered into a private American dispute which developed into such international proportions that the winter games at St. Moritz were threatened with cancellation. Thorpe Deprived of Medals Until the squabble over which ice hockey team would represent the U. S. at St. Moritz, the most notable American Olympic controversy centered on Jim Thorpe, the Indian athlete from Carlisle, whose medals were stripped from him after he had won both the pentathlon and decathlon in the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm. It was an unheard of achievement and the magnificently proportioned Indian was duly hailed by eyewitnesses as the premier athlete of the world. Later, however, it was learned that Thorpe had played minor league baseball as a professional and all his trophies were ordered returned, his records wiped clear of the books.

Study Hardware-Eating Fish In Wisconsin

The department stocked one 40-acre northern lake with 20,000 rainbow trout and confidently awaited a substantial "fish harvest" this year. So far the fish haven't been biting and the department's experts are stumped.

They analyzed the stomachs of rainbows and found that the fish live on a rather steady diet of plankton and larger bugs. They figured that fishermen who used flies for bait should be reeling in the rainbows. But the fly fishermen aren't.

The most successful lure is a gadget called the "hardware." It's a string of assorted hardware, including 10 spinners, with a gob of worms on the end. The department's experts have no idea why the rainbows like it.

Bass in other lakes are temperamental too. They seem to like a new red and white plug with a spinner at each end. It's catching bass where other baits that make a similar commotion fail. But, sighed the experts, the bass may be demanding something else next week.

Bruins Idle This Week

U.S. Athletes Lose First Three Olympic Events

London, July 31 — (UP)—Dreaded United States athletes, anxious to atone for defeats in the first three final events, trained their sights on eight individual championships and one team title at stake today in the Olympic games.

The Yanks were mighty disappointed yesterday when their favorites failed to come through in the high jump, and it didn't help that they were blanked, as expected, in the 10,000 meter run and the women's discus throw.

But they had high hopes that it would be a different story today and they were given a good chance to take five of the personal crowns — such choice plums as the 100-meter dash, broad jump, 400-meter hurdles, men's 100-meter free style swimming and the men's springboard diving — plus the team laurels for the men's foils in fencing.

Racehorse Roy Cochran promised his mates he would bring home the bacon in the 400-meter hurdles although it looked like he would have to break the Olympic record to do it.

Semi-finals and finals were on tap in the glamorous 100-meter dash which was one of the three titles taken by Jesse Owens of the U. S. in 1936. All three American entrants — Barney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa.; Mel Patton of Southern California and Harrison Dillard of Cleveland, O. — still were in competition and the coveted title apparently lay between them and Lloyd Labench of Panama or John Treloar of Australia.

Only one of the greatest upsets in Olympic history could keep Willie Steele of San Diego State College from taking the broad jump, another title Owens won in '36.

In men's springboard diving, Americans held three of the first four places after competition in four compulsory dives yesterday. The event concludes today with one more compulsory dive and three optionals.

All three American entrants still were left in the men's 100-meter free style swimming, too. They were Keith Carter of Purdue, who defeated favored Alex Jany of France in one heat, and Wally Ris of Iowa and Alan Ford of Yale, who finished one-two in a blanket finish in another heat that tied the Olympic record of 57.5 seconds.

Powerhouse Tigers Beat A's 17-2

Detroit, July 31 — (UP)—They're up. They're down. The Detroit Tigers, who walloped the daylights out of the second place Philadelphia Athletics last night, 17 to 2, have been first on one end and then on the other of lop-sided scores in their last four games.

Last Tuesday, the Boston Red Sox handed them an 8 to 0 licking. The next day, the Tiger powerhouse cut loose and submerged the Sox, 13 to 0. Boston came out on top of the series by defeating the Tigers, 8 to 1, on Thursday.

Now the Tigers face the Athletics again today, hoping that the cycle won't repeat itself.

In last night's slug-fest before 45,996 fans, the Tigers handed the Athletics their worst defeat of the season. Freddy Hutchinson went the distance for Detroit, registering his seventh victory of the season. Joe Coleman was tagged with the loss.

Three homers and at least one hit from every member of the team gave the Tigers their victory with plenty to spare. George Vico started the marathon in the first inning with his fifth four-bagger of the season. Two more runs came across the plate in the second, driven in by Bob Swift's single.

The big fourth inning spelled doom to the A's. The Tigers tallied seven runs, sparked by George Kell's grand slam homer.

For good measure, the Bengals collected two more runs in the sixth, including Vic Wertz' homer, and wound up with a cluster of five in the seventh to leave Philadelphia gasping for breath. The A's, however, did manage to squeeze across two runs, one unearned, and one from Mike Guerra's homer in the ninth.

Falkenburg Is Beaten

Seabright, N. J. — (UP)—The 60th annual Seabright invitation tennis tournament, apparently guaranteeing at least one upset a day, today reached the quarter final stage.

Bob Falkenburg, of Hollywood, Cal., was the latest name star to catch his lumps as he took a surprise 13-11, 6-4 beating from Harry Likas of San Francisco yesterday in the third round.
