Continue Search For Mass Slayer

By Bob Clock

Although the trail is as "cold as the winters in northern Michigan," Emmet County Prosecutor Wayne Richard Smith and Under-sheriff Clifford Fosmore are pressing their search for the killer or killers of the R.C. Robison family with the assistance of the State Police Crime Laboratory in East Lansing and a team of State Police investigators in Detroit.

Meanwhile, funeral preparations for Robison, 42, his wife

Shirley, 40; sons Richard, 19; Gary, 17; Randy, 12; and daughter Susie, 8, are under way in the Detroit suburb of Royal Oak. Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday from the Vasu-Lynch funeral home on Woodward-Ave. with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery on 12 Mile Rd.

The bodies of the slain family were found Monday in their well-kept log home on the Lake Michigan shore by Emmet County sheriff's deputies investigating a report by Readmond Township Supervisor Chauncey A. Bliss that there was a body in the Robison cottage.

Emphasizing the magnitude of the search for the killers, Smith said it involves such things as investigating every the whereabouts of every escapee from the state prison at camp Pellston in recent years. The camp is six miles from the Robison cottage.

LITTLE TO WORK ON "We don't have much to work with and the trail is as cold as the winters in northern Michigan," he said.

"Remember, these people were slain more than a month ago," he continued. "Ray (James Earl Ray, the suspect in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King in April) got as far as England, and police were hot on his trail from the beginning."

He said reports of an autopsy on the body, performed by Emmet County Medical Examiners Dr. Richard Weber and Dr. Jean H. Webster, should be received shortly. He said the reports are presently being transcribed in Lansing.

TWO WEAPONS

Present evidence indicates that two weapons--a .22 caliber and a .25 caliber--were used in the slayings.

He said all evidence from inside the house is in the hands of State Crime lab investigators in Lansing. The crime lab was notified of the slayings at 5:10 Monday evening and investigators arrived at the cottage at 10:30 p.m.

He said the search is hampered by the fact that the Robisons were not permanent residents of the area, only spending two or three weeks in the area each summer.

This was the first year they planned to spend the entire summer, and had been at the cottage about a week when they were murdered.

He added that "a number" of local residents who knew the Robisons have been interviewed.

MYSTERIOUS NOTE

Of the dozens of unanswered questions in the case, one of the most mysterious is a note attached with Scotch tape to a window just outside the rear door saying the Robisons would not return until July 7 or 8.

The last time any member of the family was seen was June 24 when Robison called at the Chauncey A. Bliss home to leave $20 with Mrs. Bliss, whose son, Norman, was killed in a motorcycle accident the day before. Neighbors say the money was to be used to buy a tombstone.

Later he called on the Chauncey P. Bliss home, on a high bluff directly above the Robison cottage, to offer his condolences on the death of their grandson.

Undersheriff Fosmore says there was a "vague signature" on the note which the crime lab is attempting to decipher.

The Robisons were known to be planning a trip by commercial airliner from Pellston to Kentucky and Florida to purchase property.

Cleveland Gamble Pays Off

Mayor's Move Brings Quiet

CLEVELAND (UPI) -- Ten persons were dead. Blocks of the largely Negro east side lay smoldering. Occasional looters grabbed merchandise from store windows. Spent cartridges lay in the streets and on the floors of darkened apartments where police and snipers had exchanged fire Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

There were 2,600 National Guardsmen patrolling the streets Wednesday, armed and with orders to shoot to kill snipers. The east side was a battleground. The racial peace that had been Cleveland ended in the report of automatic weapons and the crash of Molotov cocktails through ghetto windows. The nation's eighth largest city was on edge.

Then Mayor Carl B. Stokes, a Negro, made his bold gamble. He ordered the National Guardsmen removed from the streets Wednesday night.

His gamble apparently paid off.

CALM RETURNS

The Cleveland police chief, Michael Blackwell, called it "a brilliant idea." The city was relatively calm Wednesday night and early today.

There were reports of early morning looting, firebombings and large crowds. Several retail establishments, including some large furniture stores, were looted in the area of 105th and 125th streets.

One merchant who saw his store looted said reporting the incident to police and other city officials was like "walloping a pillow." But police said the overall situation remained under control.

Stokes ordered all but 100 Negro police out of the city's scarred east side. He replaced the National Guard with 500 black community leaders.

Stokes "challenged" them to keep the peace. They did.

A group of civil rights leaders wearing orange armbands with "mayor's committee" printed on them, moved into the area talking with residents and trying to relieve tensions.

Stokes told an early morning news conference today the situation was "relatively calm" in the seven-square-mile area that had been torn apart Tuesday night and early Wednesday by snipers, fires and looting, leaving the 10 dead, 45 wounded and some 50 arrested. Three of those killed were white police officers and at least three were snipers.

Maj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso, commander of the Ohio National Guard, earlier had expressed dissatisfaction with Stokes' withdrawal of the troops in the area stretching from 55th to 125th Streets. And from Euclid Avenue to the Lake Shore Boulevard.

"I'm a military man," Del Corso said. "I had the area secure and I would have liked to have kept it that way. But I bowed to the mayor's request."

CHIEF ENDORSES MOVE

Police Chief Blackwell called it a "brilliant idea. It was the most effective move made by Mayor Stokes since the trouble broke out. It paid off as there were no shootings and no assaults."

"There have been sporadic incidents of looting and also 10

Scattered Violence, Looting in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) -- Police cleared 17 blocks of 12th Street and dispersed a crowd early today when scattered looting broke out and a few firebombs were thrown.

Sixteen persons were arrested, most of them on charges of breaking and entering, police said.

Along 12th Street, the heart of the 1967 riot area, police said firemen doused two firebombs tossed onto roofs, and a third firebomb landed near a police car without going off.

A crowd gathered shortly after midnight at 12th and Pingree, five blocks south of the street corner where the 1967 riot broke out a year ago this week. Police said some in the crowd hurled rocks and bottles at police cars before they were dispersed and 17 blocks of the street were closed to traffic.

Windows were smashed at a furniture store one block north on Pingree, and a broken stereo-radio set from the store was left abandoned on the sidewalk outside. Police said a half-dozen stores were broken into along the street in the neighborhood three miles north and west of downtown Detroit.

Detroit's new police commissioner, who was sworn in Monday, said Wednesday the city had received "advance warning" there might be a disturbance. The city is "in a state of readiness, ready to deal with any problem," Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen told a Wednesday news conference.

He refused to say where the warning came from or just what it warned against.

"We received reasonable advance notice that there was a possibility of some kind of disturbance breaking out here," he said.

Spreen and his superintendent and assistant superintendent were on the streets during the night.

"It's nice to have someone out here who can give orders on the spot," a patrolman on 12th Street remarked.

Two American Deserters Denied Asylum by Sweden

STOCKHOLM (UPI) -- The Swedish Aliens Commission today refused asylum for two runaway U.S. servicemen and ordered them expelled from Sweden. It granted asylum to a third.

It was the first time since the influx of U.S. deserters began early this year that the commission has refused asylum. But a commission spokesman said the decision today concerned "two very special cases."

Those ordered expelled were William D. Woodkey, 26, of Santa Monica, Calif., whose parents live in San Jose, Calif., and Josp Ivanov, a Yugoslav citizen who served in the U.S. armed forces.

Receive OK To Hike Parcel Post Rates

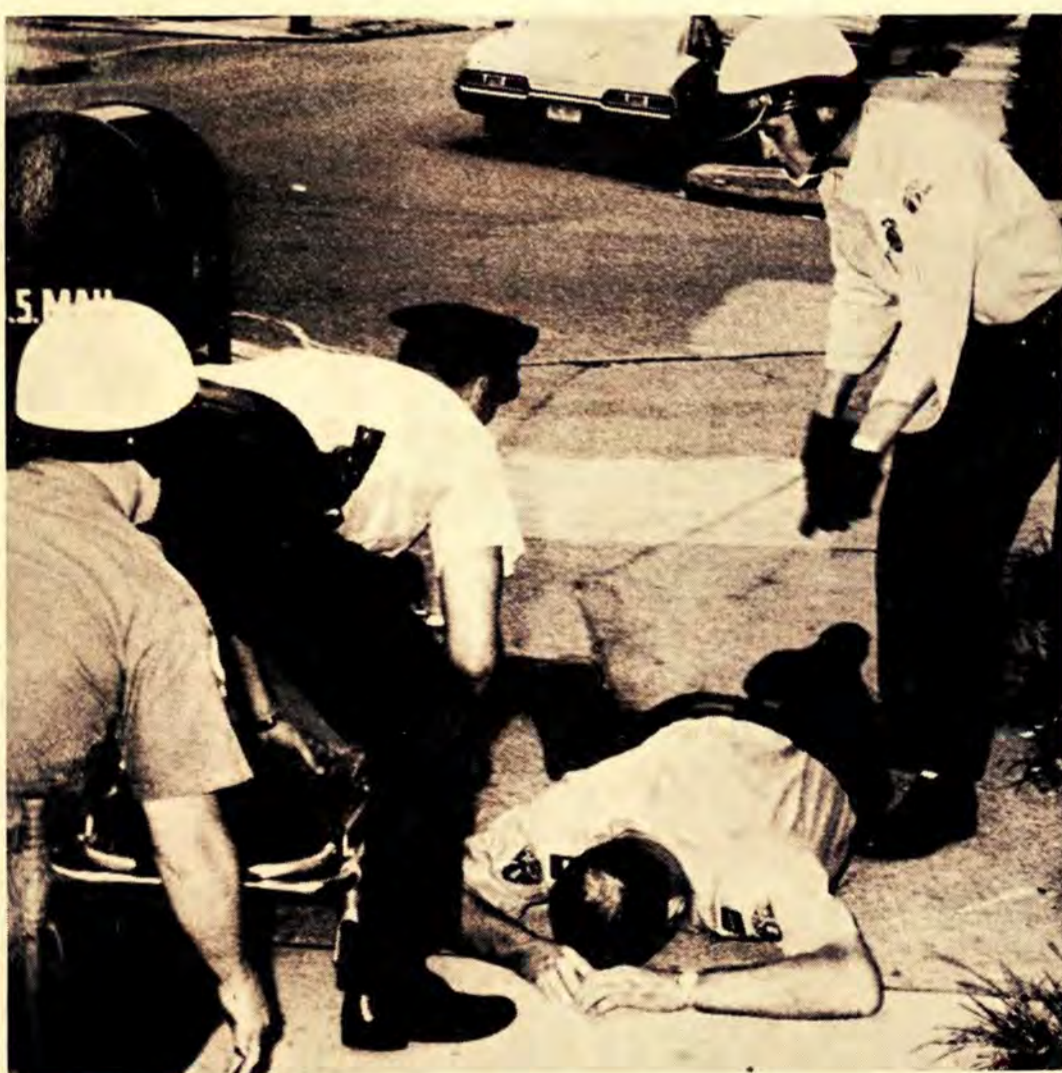

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- The Post Office Department has a go-ahead to raise parcel post rates 10.5 percent, probably effective in 60 days.

The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) cleared the way for the increase Wednesday by declining to undertake a study of the proposed change. The increase, first parcel post rise since January 1967, will affect packages and catalogues sent through the mails.

It is expected to bring in an extra $86 million in postal revenue.

Under the new rate schedule, packages now costing up to $1.10 will cost an extra 10 cents. Packages in this price bracket make up 80 percent of the parcel post volume.

An extra 15 cents will be added to packages that now can be sent for between $1.10 and $4.00. The minimum charge for local parcel delivery will be raised from 40 cents to 50 cents and the minimum charge for parcels outside the local delivery area will be raised from 50 cents to 60 cents.

CLEVELAND: Police Lt. Leroy Jones lies mortally wounded from sniper fire which broke out in Cleveland's East side Tuesday night. The officer standing on the right was later wounded during a gun battle. A total of three policemen were killed during the night. Today the death toll stood at 10 as shooting subsided. US War Casualties Hit 10 Month Low; Bomb Hideouts

SAIGON (UPI)--U.S. B52 Stratofortresses slammed hundreds of high-explosive bombs into Communist hideouts on a favorite Viet Cong infiltration route from Cambodia toward Saigon today. Headquarters said American battle deaths hit a 10-month low last week.

The high-flying B52s hit an area four miles from the Cambodian border on the heels of a battle near Loc Ninh that cost the Communists 21 killed Wednesday, spokesmen said.

Casualty reports showed 157 American servicemen killed last week the lowest since 102 died during the week ending last Oct.

7. Another 2,104 were wounded, highest since the week beginning June 15, the announcement said.

The figures reflected the recent full-off in the intensity of fighting but did not include losses suffered this week in a series of Communist shellings and attacks on the northern coast.

LOW COMMUNIST TOLL

The Communist death toll was put at 1,248 for the week, second lowest of the year, while government casualties were 156 soldiers slain, a low for 1968.

U.S. mission spokesmen said civilian casualties from Viet Cong terrorism in the first five months of the year had surpassed those of any previous six-month period in the Vietnam war.

"Striking in almost every district of South Vietnam's 44 provinces, VC Viet Cong terrorists murdered an estimated 2,472 South Vietnamese government officials, employees and civilians, wounded 5,020 and abducted 4,321 during five of the six months since Jan. 1," the announcement said.

The month not included was February, when 7,424 civilians were killed and 15,434 wounded during the Communists' Tet offensive, spokesmen said.

HIT TWO VILLAGES

Viet Cong terrorists attacked two villages along South Vietnam's northern coast Wednesday and killed 20 persons, wounded 41 others and kidnapped 20, military spokesmen said.

At Phu Dau, 35 miles southwest of Di Nang, guerrillas set fire to the village when the villagers refused to grow rice for them, killing two and wounding three. The Red then retreated to nearby foothills with 20 hostages.

Eighteen civilians were killed and 39 were wounded in a simultaneous mortar barrage on a refugee camp at Tanh Tay, 15 miles north of Phu Dau.

In the battle near Loc Ninh government soldiers suffered "very light" casualties while one of their American Special Forces advisers was killed and one was wounded, the war communique said.

Communist ground fire hit a courier plane carrying 11 passengers into Hue, spokesmen said, but it landed safely. The pilot of an Air Force F4C Phantom hit near Da Nang bailed out and was rescued.

Over North Vietnam, a Navy Phantom was downed by anti-aircraft fire but its two crewmen bailed out over the South China Sea and were plucked from the water by a Navy rescue chopper, the war communique said.

Sees Future Hospital Care Possibly Costing $100 a Day

"We may see the day when hospital care will cost $100 a day," John Rasmussen, Administrator of Little Traverse Hospital told Petoskey Rotarians at their dinner-meeting at Stafford's Bay View Inn Wednesday noon.

Rasmussen gave several reasons for the large increases of costs in the hospital industry but he said that foremost among them were inflation and the rising cost of labor.

"The McNearny study issued by The University of Michigan showed that, in general, hospitals throughout the country have been doing a good job," Rasmussen said, but he added, "we are always under constant fire."

He said that hospital administrators are looking for ways to cut down costs by area pooling of services such as laundry -- food management and equipment purchase.

The administrator pointed out that much of the specialized equipment used by hospitals is very expensive since it is not mass produced. "For instance, a cobalt cancer treatment center would cost at least $100,000, $50,000 for the initial equipment and another $50,000 for the lead shielded room to house it."

He also said that because of the Medicare program the government has become a major factor in hospital administration. Since the government is paying a share of hospital care they are in a position to tell the industry "where-When-How and What" services the hospital must offer.

"The use of computers and industrial engineering are two more ways hospitals can cut down labor costs," Rasmussen said but with the extended life expectancy from 40 to 70 years of age since the early part of this century more and more people are taking advantage of hospital services and this has created a manpower shortage for both skilled and unskilled labor.

Dr. Richard A. Kutchal introduced the speaker.

See Glimmer of Hope in Paris

PARIS (UPI) -- North Vietnam had insisted since the Paris talks opened May 13 any settlement of the Vietnam war would have to be on terms of the Viet Cong's political arm. Hanoi said it would never give in on that.

The prospect the North Vietnamese appeared to have pulled back on precisely that point gave a glimmer of hope in the talks, diplomatic sources said today.

W. Averell Harriman, U.S. chief negotiator at Paris, notices Hanoi's latest memorandum had changed the paragraph about recognition of the Viet Cong. Now, it merely mentioned "self-determination for South Vietnam."

Banter with Betty

I have been extolling the virtues of Petoskey for almost three years and one of the many things we have loved about this part of Michigan, after living in large cities, is the quiet, peaceful countryside, where everyone can fish and hunt, hike or swim, etc.

It was a wonderful experience to allow our children to venture downtown alone, walking the streets with safety.

After living where our sons had been stopped and beaten, cut with a broken bottle, threatened and intimidated.

Returning home after a late assignment, the fear of being stopped by a gang of hoodlums sporting chains and knives disappeared and the six inch long hat pin, which I had carried in the handle of my purse, was tucked away in a drawer.

But, suddenly the fear, which grips many a city resident, has returned and I find myself checking and re-checking the locks at night; And, faithful Fido suddenly finds he has the run of the house again, to growl and snap at any strangers who venture to our door.

NOT NEW

Fear is not a new experience to any woman. It accompanies her to the no-man's-land when her first born enters the world, it joins her in a long vigil beside the bed of a sick child and grips her in its chilly vise when she watches the flow of life disappear from a loved one.

But the kind of fear which has invaded our homes today is the result of a sickness which seems to be spreading unchecked across our land.

Looking over the stories which we have had in our paper lately, just about every page has at least one or two articles about some act of violence which has occurred.

It seems we cannot escape this disease.

Even in our northern county of Emmet.

Teenager is Natural Resource

Woman To Woman
By Patricia McCormack
NEW YORK (UPI) -- Add to what's right about America: A natural resource called the teenage girl.

There are 12.7 million of them. A few make the headlines by tripping on LSD or tagging along with boys involved in anti-social acts. But among the millions those making the police blotter are so statistically miniscule you need a microscope to find them.

A new profile on the right and bright ones shows what you might have suspected: They're idealistic. One indication of this is in their career choices. They veto the glamor jobs in favor of "do unto others" posts.

Twenty-two percent of them want to teach. Nineteen percent have set their caps for careers in medicine, including nursing.

SURVEYED
The idealistic streak flashes again when the girls list characteristics they rate most important in a future mate, according to the survey conducted on behalf of "Seventeen" magazine.

In "that man" they crave trustworthiness 95.7 percent and warm personality 95 percent as opposed to "same religious beliefs 52.3 percent, family background 42.7 percent and athletic achievement 20.3 percent.

With 4.7 million of the girls currently giving their time to charitable groups, they're not letting tarnish dull the glow of the Golden Rule.

Other highlights of the "Seventeen" survey:

-They date on dates but only 30.5 percent go steady. Average length of time with one beau: 10.7 months. Others, 27.6 percent, prefer to play the field. An estimated four million do not date at all.

SOMEWHAT WEALTHY

-They're somewhat rich. They have about $7.1 billion to spend a year-more than $11 a week, a large part of it earned. With dad in his peak income years, they often persuade him to provide cash for big ticket items: One result: 925,000 drive their own automobiles. When they run short of cash, 5.5 million of them present mother's charge plates and 850,000 flash their own.

-They're super helpers to mothers, 43 percent of whom work. Three million of the girls make up the family grocery list; 7.3 million go marketing. On weekdays, even with homework, 3.5 million help prepare meals. And 6.9 million help with the dishes.

-They earn spare cash by baby sitting, office or clerical work, and selling in that order.

The survey also showed that the average teenage girl weighs 116 pounds and stands 5'4", shops for clothes and cosmetics six days a week, listens to the radio at least two hours a day, likes to watch - even play - football, wears a junior or junior petite size.

Clock Wise

By Bob Clock

I think Jim Fitzgerald, the widely read columnist from the Lapeer County Press, may have stepped off the deep end in a recent piece on outdoor cookery.

Jim maintains it is all a plot by wily housewives the country over to get the cooking out of the house and onto the patio in the hands of their leather-headed helpmates, thus relieving them of another household chore.

Maybe so. Jim has an uncanny way of getting at the meat of a problem.

But then listen to this: "A sane man might well wonder why an electric civilization is returning to the open flame of the cave men," he writes.

"The most often heard reason is that charcoal food tastes better. This is hokey. Most outdoor-cooked meat is either burned or raw. The only way you can stomach it is to drench it in sauce made from hot peppers and brimstone. And the only way you can sleep that night is in an Alka Seltzer bottle."

Well, now, any sane man who has ever enjoyed a steak broiled over a bed of hot charcoal can't buy that. Steak—or any food for that matter—tastes so superior cooked outdoors that it beggars comparison to the indoor variety.

And if I have to light the fire, turn the chops, fight off hungry neighborhood dogs with a stick and keep the kids from drinking the lighter fluid, well, I guess that's just part of the game if I want food cooked the way I like it.

I think part of Jim's problem is that his outdoor grill is too complicated for him. It apparently has an electric spit and his wife just bought some kind of bird-cage attachment to hold chicken legs and thighs as they revolve over the hot coals.

The other day the cage door fell open inadvertently and all the chicken parts went tumbling down into the charcoal and his wife had to wash them all in Rinso while Jim sat down and wrote a column about it.

I'll have to admit all this sounds sort of complicated. I pay no more than $1.98 for my outdoor grills and they are about as simple as they can get. The coals rest in a round metal pan and the grill part can be moved up and down on little notched legs. It's light enough to move around the yard with ease, depending on which way the wind is blowing.

Sometimes it gets a little too close to the garbage cans and out it goes the next time the trash man comes around. But at $1.98 you can afford to buy a couple of them a year. Maybe even three, if it's a good summer.

I've tried to puzzle out why steak cooked outdoors tastes so much better than the same piece of meat broiled in a conventional gas or electric range.

Of course the pungent charcoal smoke which permeates everything in the neighborhood—including the neighbors' freshly washed bedsheets—is part of the answer.

But there's more to it than that and frankly I think it's the intense heat you get with charcoal which browns the meat nicely on the outside without cooking the devil out of the inside. The problem with conventional ranges is that the heat source is usually above the grill and since heat rises the meat just sits there and dries out instead of cooking properly. This is my opinion, anyway.

Another mistake a good many outdoor cooks make is dousing their "piece de resistance" with salt too early in the cooking process. Salt, of course, is notorious for drawing out juices and many a fine piece of sirloin has been damaged beyond repair by seasoning it before it is properly braised.

There's a little doubt, however, that Jim Fitzgerald has many sympathizers in his fight against outdoor cookery, and my little gal Kate would probably be one of his staunchest supporters---if she could read.

"How come you're cooking outside?" she asks suspiciously every time she sees me empty a bag of charcoal into the grill. "Is the stove broken?"

My advice to Jim at this point is to buy a $1.98 grill---one he can understand---send his nagging wife and bickering kids downtown to eat and fix himself a steak in the privacy of his own backyard.

If it doesn't taste like a million bucks I think he had better change butchers.

Thoughts Aloud

By Jim Lutzke

It's a strange world we live in. I wonder what would happen if the United States were to suddenly decide Canada was becoming a little too much like Red China in it political thinking? Suppose the U.S. were to call a convention of Great Britain, West Germany, Japan and some of its other allies to soundly reprimand the Canadians for their wayward actions--and then begin U.S. military maneuvers along the American-Canadian border.

This is little doubt that world reaction to, and condemnation of the U.S. position would be swift in coming. The Soviet Union and other Communist states would immediately condemn U.S. action and call for United Nations censure of our attempt to interfere in the affairs of another nation.

Anti-U.S. demonstrations would break out in Moscow, Paris and just about everywhere else in the non-American world. And at home, many of our own people would rightly rise up in indignation and disgust. Our universities would be boiling with unrest and anybody who could think would be marching on Washington or registering his protest in some other way.

Yet this very drama is being enacted right now but with different players. Instead of the U.S. and Canada, the principals are the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia.

The Czech liberalization program which began six months ago has become too freedom-minded for the Russians, who now want to squelch the movement before it becomes too independent of Moscow's influence.

The Czechs has so far resisted Soviet pressure and have even insisted that a Russian-called summit conference between officials of both countries be held on Czech soil.

But despite Soviet agreement to travel to Czechoslovakia for the meeting, Russian troops began full-scale maneuvers this week to aid an ominous threat of armed intervention should the talks go awry. And while all the saber-rattling was going on, the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star straight-facedly noted, "There are no partners without equal rights, and there is no place for dictation on any question."

The sincerity of Soviet intentions with regard to the self-determination of nations within the Russian sphere of influence is on trial before the world. It will be interesting to see how the conflict of wills is resolved.

In the meantime, it is also interesting and enlightening to note that has been very little world reaction to the Soviets

Says Petoskey Area Friendly

Mr. Jim Doherty
Petoskey News-Review
319 State
Petoskey, Michigan

Dear Jim:

I have noted with a great deal of interest the figures regarding winter and summer business in our area. We at Harbour Inn are, of course, very much aware of the impact skiers have had on our business which has grown each year to the point where we are now giving serious thoughts to adding to our accommodations.

It may be of interest to you that in visiting with our guests, both summer and winter guests, that they comment repeatedly about the friendliness of the people in our area with whom they come in contact. These guests often compliment the personnel in the stores as well as those in other business establishments.

I feel that all of us involved in catering to the tourists and vacationers do owe a vote of thanks to all personnel who come in contact with the visitors in our area, for a job well done. Their attitude is a most important factor in the building of tourism.

Sincerely,
N.C. Bicking

No New Firearms Control Past Interstate Sales is Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Despite public pressures generated by the assassination of two major public figures this year, it is clear the 90th Congress will put no new controls on firearms beyond prohibiting interstate sale of long guns.

This was established beyond all doubt Wednesday when the House overwhelmingly approved a bill limited to the ban on interstate sales, and the Senate Judiciary Committee agreed on essentially the same legislation.

Though Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., pledged a floor fight to revive the Johnson administration's proposals for federal registration of all firearms and licensing of their owners, his prospects for success appeared almost nonexistent.

PROHIBIT SHIPMENT

The House bill, passed 304 to 118 after rejection by 2-1 margins of the registration and licensing plans, basically would prohibit interstate shipment of all guns, including rifles and shotguns, except between licensed dealers. It would forbid store sales to persons under 18, felons, drug addicts and mental incompetents.

A companion measure prohibiting the interstate sale of handguns was enacted last month. Public pressure for handgun legislation had built following the murders of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

LICENSING PROPOSALS STALLED

Provisions to regulate interstate sale of ammunition for rifles and shotguns were deleted from the House bill passed Wednesday, but regulation of handgun ammunition was left in.

The House also reaffirmed on a 410 to 11 roll call an amendment by Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., to require mandatory prison sentences for the use of a gun in the commission of a federal felony.

In the final roll call passage of the package, 158 Democrats and 146 Republicans voted aye. Voting against it were 70 Democrats and 39 Republicans.

The Senate Judiciary Committee took no action on the licensing-registration proposals in approving its version of the interstate sales ban 11 to 3. It gave no indication when or if it might vote on them.

In an amendment Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., called "loophole as wide as the Grand Canyon," the House added a special category of "gun collectors" who could sell and trade guns among themselves across state lines. They would have to obtain $10-a-year licenses from the U.S. Treasury secretary and keep records.

The House also amended its bill to reduce proposed annual fees for dealers' licenses from $500 to $50--still double the fee set by last month's handgun bill.

Floor action on the interstate sales bill was not expected until September when Congress reassembles after the political conventions.

Legislature to Adjourn on August 16; Cite Riot Problem

By Carole W. Eberly

LANSING (UPI) -- Senate and House members packed up and headed home Wednesday after voting no recess until Aug. 15 and to adjourn for the year Aug. 16.

Setting an adjournment date was given top priority by Republican House members who claimed the lawmakers should adjourn to prevent problems if federal troops were needed for any riot in the state.

Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, said a federal constitutional provision requires legislative approval of federal troops coming into a state for duty if the Legislature has not adjourned for the year.

Hampton said it could be "disastrous" to the state if federal troops were needed immediately and legislative members had to be rounded up from around the state to vote on the troops moving in. If such federal military assistance were needed between now and Aug. 16, the Legislature would have to return to Lansing.

MISSED LAST YEAR

"We were lucky last year because we adjourned in time," Hampton said referring to the Detroit riot a year ago when federal troops were called in.

Senate members passed the adjournment resolution Tuesday with little debate, but House Republicans, voting along straight party lines, barely got the measure through 47-46.

In other legislative action, both the House and Senate approved a bill to permit county boards of supervisors to set salaries of county department commission members.

The measure was slipped through at the last minute when House members remembered a statute which allowed department and commission members to collect the same salaries as supervisors. Earlier this year, a bill was passed to allow supervisors to set their own salaries.

FORCED TO PAY

Hampton, again leading the floor fight, said "this means that full-time supervisors earning $5,000 a year in their jobs would be forced to pay members of the county drain commission or board of canvassers, who may meet only once every two months, the same salary."

The measure was sent to the governor for his approval.

An effort to get the wiretapping bill through the House failed for the second day in a row. Tuesday, a bill that would permit police wiretapping of phones of persons suspected of criminal activities, went down 43-55.

Wednesday, it was defeated 46-45. Fifty-five votes are needed on reconsidering a bill in the House.

Both the House and Senate agreed to send the measure back to its second conference committee to see if something could be worked out for the legislators when they reconvene Aug. 15.

Ann Landers
Should She Let Her
Have it in the Chops

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I air my number-one gripe as others have? I don't expect you to print it but I'll feel better if I get it off my chest.

Dentists are, in my opinion, the most backward of all professionals. If Benjamin Franklin had not invented false teeth, people would be walking around toothless today.

I have been reading articles on tooth transplants since I was a child. They have been "experimenting" for the last 20 years. I have written to the authors of the articles to learn which dentists perform the procedure. The replies were vague. I never did find a dentist who could transplant a tooth.

All they know is drilling and pulling and dentures and partial plates. They are too busy raking in the money to learn anything new. Today when kidneys, the liver, human hair and even the heart can be successfully transplanted, is it too much to ask that the dentists get busy and join the Twentieth Century? -- EXPOSED NERVE

DEAR NERVE: There are hundreds of dentists who transplant teeth. Where have you been looking? Transplanting teeth began in the 18th Century. Your reference to Benjamin Franklin is interesting. The agony produced by his handmade teeth (fashioned out of hippopotamus ivory, wood, gold plate, rivets, screws, human incisor teeth and steel springs) started dentists experimenting with tooth transplants.

Tooth donors, principally poor people, were secured through newspaper ads. A New York paper in 1772 carried the following notice. "Teeth -- any person willing to dispose of his front teeth apply to Number 28 Maiden Lane. A generous price will be given. N.B. four guineas (about $40 in today's currency) will be paid for every tooth."

The practice of transplantation was ultimately abandoned for several reasons. First, it failed to meet the needs of the masses. Second, many diseases were transmitted from donor to recipient (most notably syphilis). Thirdly, the medical world learned of the rejection phenomenon. After a few months, transplanted teeth loosened and fell out.

A hundred years later, however, dentists began experimenting once again with transplanted teeth and the techniques have been vastly improved. Today a transplanted tooth will last for four to five years.

The knowledge gained by dentists in their transplant procedures has helped lay the theoretical groundwork which made possible the kidney and liver transplants, and now the heart. Now, aren't you ashamed?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am living with a man I love very much. We are not married because his selfish, money-hungry wife will not give him a divorce. Some people know the score, others do not. I could care less about the talk.

Yesterday was my birthday. I received an anonymous gift -- a set of pillowcases on which was embroidered "Mr." and "Mrs." I'm sure this was a dig by one of the cats who works with me in this office. I also think I know which girl sent the gift. Shall I play dumb or let her have it -- right in the chops? -- NOT SENSITIVE JUST MAD

DEAR NOT: If this is the worst dig you get, consider yourself lucky, Petunia. A girl who goes in for playing house with a married man can ill afford the luxury of kipping anyone in the chops. Play dumb. And for you it should be a cinch.

HHH to Dedicate Pollution Basin

DETROIT (UPI) -- Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is to dedicate the largest pollution basin in the world Aug. 2 when he visits St. Clair Shores and Detroit for one day.

Spokesmen at the Michigan Humphrey headquarters said Wednesday he was to dedicate facilities at the giant Chapoton Retention Basin in the Detroit suburb. The basin, with a capacity of 28 million gallons, is the largest pollution device in existence.

Humphrey would then appear on a Detroit radio show, his supporters said.

Hitting Drought Continues to Plague Tigers, Lose Again 6-3

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- The Senators might be 24 games behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers, but it wasn't obvious Wednesday night.

The Tigers, mired in their most severe hitting drought of the season, fell to the last-place Senators 6-3. The loss, combined with Baltimore's 1-0 victory over Cleveland, cut Detroit's lead over the Orioles to five games and just four in the loss column.

Harvard Oarsmen Will Take Part

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) -- The Negro group threatening a boycott of the Olympics has recruited five members of the all-white Harvard rowing crew.

But the oarsmen, who made public a statement in support of Prof. Harry Edwards' "Olympic Project for Human Rights," insist they plan to row at Mexico City and will not participate in an actual boycott.

The five, who said they were acting as individuals rather than representatives of Harvard, chose a panelled lounge in Harvard's Kirkland house Wednesday to appear with Edwards and issue a lengthy statement supporting the aims of his group.

But the rowers noted in their prepared remarks that, "because we do not know what specific form the black athletes' demonstration will take, we do not consider ourselves tied to any specific action." And the five individually said they planned to row in the Olympics.

The five, together with four others, qualified for the Olympics July 14 when their Harvard boat scored a narrow one foot victory over Penn in the final trials at Long Beach, Calif.

The Harvard athletes said in their statement that they agreed in principle with the aims of the organization formed by San Jose State College Professor Edwards and invited other Olympic candidates to join them in "obtaining information," "discussions" of the issues and "to discuss means of voicing our support at the Olympic Games."

Ken McMullen batted in four runs for Washington on a single and a homer and Hank Allen collected four hits as the Senators bounced back from Tuesday night's 6-4 loss to Detroit.

The two teams face each other again tonight, in the only scheduled AL game, before the Tigers return home to host the Orioles in a weekend series.

Hannan Winner
The Tigers touched starter Jim Hannan for two runs in the first inning but couldn't score again until the ninth. Hannan allowed only seven hits and three walks and struck out three in the eight innings he worked as he picked up his fourth win in six decisions.

A walk to Dick McAuliffe started the Tigers off well enough as Mickey Stanley followed with a double and Jim Northrup singled in a run on an infield out. A single by Al Kaline drove in Stanley.

Detroit starter Mickey Lolich lasted less than four innings as he picked up his seventh loss against six wins.

McMullen singled in the Senators' first run in the first inning after Allen tripled, then tagged Lolich with a three-run homer in the third that put Washington ahead 4-2. McMullen's homer, his 12th, came after Lolich walked Del Unser and Al Kaline singled.

Allen singled in the fifth Washington run in the fourth inning and doubled and scored the final run in the seventh when Bernie Allen drew a bases-loaded walk off Tiger reliever Jon Hiller.

The Tigers threatened in the ninth when Kaline walked and Willie Horton singled. That drove Hannan off the mound and Dick Bosman came on to retire the next two batters.

But pinch-hitter Gates Brown slammed a single off Bosman to send Kaline home with Detroit's third and final run. Brown is now 11 for 18 in pinch-hitting duties this year.

Barry Moore replaced Bosman and retired Norm Cash on a groundout to end the game. Since All-Star time, when the Tigers had a 9½-game AL lead, they've managed to score three runs in an inning only twice, two runs only eight times, and one run 19 times. In 83 innings no Tiger crossed the plate.

The Tigers plan to send Joe Sparma 7-9 to the mound tonight against Washington's Bob Howard 1-4.

Second Montreal Backer Quits

B and C Posts 2-0 Win Over Russell's

B and C Market of Boyne City spoiled Russell Shoes' hopes of a title in the Petoskey Softball Association here last night by posting a 2-0 victory at Pioneer Park.

The victory was their first of the second round and it was Russell's second loss, cutting them out of a chance for a possible tie for first place and the regular league comes to an end this week.

Tonight's action finds Market Basket meeting Fochtman at 7 p.m. and Victory Lanes takes on the Elks at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday the regular season action will be closed out at Cheboygan where Ormsbee Motors hosts Bremmeyr-Bain.

Russell, in a hitting slump, picked up only two singles all night off winning hurler Marv Johnecheck. One was a single by losing hurler Bernie Kulik in the third and the other by Doug Piehl in the sixth. Both hits proved to be harmless.

B and C Market came up with two runs in the third inning on two hits with Marv Johncheck and Mike Hausler crossing the plate on singles by Hal Price and Dennie Gunderson. They picked up two more hits later in the game but the two third inning runs held up as the victory.

Johnecheck allowed only two hits in the victory while Bernie Kulik was tagged for the loss on a five hitter. Hal Price and Dennie Gunderson each got two hits.

Connie Smith was the winner on a six hitter and Carol Schwartzfischer took the loss, giving up five hits.

Ward went ahead 3-1 in the bottom of the first inning but saw Dairy Queen take the edge at 5-3 in the third. The Queens added three more in the top of the fifth and Wards came through with two in the bottom of the same frame and one in a seventh inning rally.

NEW YORK (UPI) - The newly organized Football Coaches Association said Wednesday two outstanding Negro colleges, Grambling and Morgan State, will play a charity game in Yankee Stadium on Sept. 28, for the Urban League Street Academy Program.

There will be a registered shoot held at the Sportsmen's Club range on Saturday and Sunday, August 3rd and 4th under the direction of the Michigan State Skeet Assn. There will be shooters coming from all parts of the state and everyone is invited either as shooters or spectators. We expect a good crowd as most shot-gunners wives are very happy for an opportunity to come to Petoskey as the shopping is the best.

Second Montreal Backer Quits

MONTREAL (UPI)—Montreal's star-crossed major league baseball sponsors, looking more and more as if they were caught in a game of little-endians, went shopping today for new sponsors with footloose cash.

The syndicate, which garnered a National League franchise, lost its second backer in as many days Wednesday when industrialist J. Louis Levesque quit as both participant and chairman of the syndicate.

He followed in the footsteps of undertaker Murc Bougie, who had exited a day earlier. The syndicate thus dwindled to five millionaires, still optimistic despite the double dropout.

The new man at the head of the syndicate, Charles Bronfman, balding, dapper, fast-talking heir to the Seagrams Distillers' Corp., told a news conference: "We are not disheartened."

"From the start, he was never very strong about the idea of coming in," Bronfman said of the departed Levesque. "He told us, 'If you need an extra guy, well, okay, call on me.'"

Levesque announced his withdrawal from the syndicate in a letter to Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau, who had first talked Levesque into the venture. It was reported Levesque expressed disappointment that more sponsors had failed to come forward to join the syndicate.

Levesque was unavailable for comment on one report that he had balked after Bronfman attempted to have the sponsors pony up $1,120,000 required as initial payment to the National League by Aug. 15.

In all, the syndicate is pledged to put up $10-million to pave Montreal's entry into big-league baseball.

After hearing his case the commission said there was no risk that he would be assigned to Vietnam duty and ordered him expelled from Sweden.

Date for the expulsion was not set.

Ivanov told the commission he emigrated to the United States and was called up for military service there. He said he fled to Yugoslavia to escape service in Vietnam and spent three months there. He then went to Sweden to seek asylum here, he said.

Woodkey told the commission he was a conscientious objector and an opponent of the war in Vietnam. The commission said he had been assigned to hospital duties in the U.S. armed forces and was not forced to bear arms.

But Woodkey said he was opposed also to serving in the hospital and fled to France some time ago. When French police started a search for him he went to Sweden, he told the commission.

But the Czechs, led by First Secretary Alexander Dubcek, are not making it easy for the Russians.

According to Czech spokesmen and sources, Dubcek is balking at a summit that would put the Soviet 11 against his own 11-man presidium.

Despite veiled threats of Soviet armed intervention, Czech spokesmen also publicly continued to vow that the policy of reform-including a free press-will not be changed to the Soviet liking.

Urges Drastic Measures To Obtain Prosecutors

MACKINAC ISLAND (UPI) - Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley today called for "drastic measures" to remedy the "citizen apathy and official neglect" that has resulted in a reluctance of able lawyers to become county prosecutors.

In a speech at the annual meeting of the Michigan Prosecuting Attorneys Association, Kelley revealed that no candidates from either party have filed for the office of prosecuting attorney in 11 counties.

"At a time when the public has unprecedented concern about crime and law and order, that concern has not been translated into effective measures to attract enough able lawyers to this vital position by providing reasonable salaries and working conditions," Kelley said.

"Of the 11 counties in which there is no candidate for prosecutor, 10 had salaries of less than $6,000 in 1966, the last year for which total figures are available, and three of those counties had salaries of less

As if to show that the Soviets will not halt reform plans, Dubcek spent Wednesday in Prague working on arrangements for a Czech party congress in September that is to cement the eight-month-old anti-Stalinist regime in this country.

In Washington, and elsewhere, foreign government sources indicated the Czechs possibly were in a bad position-faced with a choice of giving in to the Soviets and cutting down their reforms or paying the consequences, which could include armed intervention.

Authorities are apparently puzzled by the fact that the note saying when the Robisons would return was posted on the door, yet only one suitcase, containing men's and women's clothing, was in the process of being packed. It was found open on the bed.

Fosmore said several empty suitcases were found in a sleeping loft above the main floor. Clothing belonging to the children was still on coat hangers and in dressers, indicating their departure was still some time off.
